

Senior Translator (Bilingual)

York is a leading international teaching and research university, and a driving force for positive change. Empowered by a welcoming and diverse community with a uniquely global perspective, we are preparing our students for their long-term careers and personal success. Together, we can make things right for our communities, our planet and our future.

Glendon is York University's Francophone and bilingual Faculty and the only institution in southern Ontario where university programs are offered in both French and English. In 2013, Glendon was named the Centre of Excellence of French-Language Postsecondary Education and its current strategic plan includes the strengthening of its bilingual mandate and, as a result, the development of its relationships with French-language colleges, bilingual universities and with the Francophone community of the Centre-Southwest.

In this role, reporting to the Provost's Office (York) and to the Principal's Office (Glendon), you will be responsible for translating technical and non-technical written materials from English into French, and on occasion from French into English. The Senior Translator is also responsible for writing, comparative editing, proofreading, translation database management, terminology management, and providing leadership, professional advice and functional guidance for communication activities. The Senior Translator will work on projects for York University and for Glendon College and will be located at the Glendon campus.

To be considered for this opportunity, you will bring the following:

University degree in Translation or in a related field. Certified translator with the Ordre des traducteurs, terminologues et interprètes agréés du Québec or Association of Translators and Interpreters of Ontario (ATIO). At least 5 years of experience in English-French and French-English translation in the education sector or a similar field.
